DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

The amendment dated 10-26-04 is entered. The office action includes an examination of claims 32-37, previously inadvertently missed in the prior office action.

Any inconveniences caused are regretted.

Specification

The amendment filed 10-26-04 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: "a positioning support device mounted to a navigational feature".

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

Claims 1-16, 18-25, and 27-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The recitation of "a positioning support device mounted to a navigational feature" is new matter.

The navigational feature as disclosed are discussed on page 9 as well as the related portions in the specification mentioned by applicants. It appears that the navigation feature is illustrated as satellite 302. The positioning support device 104 is not mounted to the satellite 302.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 4-10, 12, 13, 15, 16, 18- 20, 22, 23, 25, 27-29, and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Obradovich et al.

The PCD device 20 receives navigational information from the positioning support device, which is the orbit for navigational feature satellite 10 in figure 1.

The language “a positioning support device mounted to a navigational feature” reads on an orbiting satellite with the orbit being the positioning support device and the satellite being the navigational feature.

With respect to claim 5, note col. 12, lines 15-29, col. 14, lines 7-9.

With respect to claim 8, the addition, failure, or removal of the devices are inherent administration functions with respect to the distribution of the PCDs to users.

Art Unit: 2636

For instance the addition, deletion, and the recognition of a device failure are all inherent administration features done by the provider.

Claims 1, 4, 6, 7, 9, 11-13, 15, 16, 18-20, 22, 23, 25, 27-29, and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kurokawa et al.

These claims clearly read on the personal navigator as shown in figures 1 and 2.

The language "a positioning support device mounted to a navigational feature" reads on an orbiting satellite with the orbit being the positioning support device and the satellite being the navigational feature.

The use extends to marine sports, col. 1, lines 30-42, col. 8, and lines 6-15.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 2, 3, 14, and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either Obradovich et al or Kurokawa et al in view of Lima.

Neither Obradovich nor Kurokawa mentions the user of the navigator device is visually impaired.

Lima shows a personal navigator wherein the user is visually impaired, see col. 7, lines 59 et seq.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use the navigator device of either Obradovich or Kurokawa with a user that is visually impaired because the use of a personal navigator device with a visually impaired user is clearly suggested by Lima.

---

Claims 21 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Obradovich or Kurokawa in view of McLaren, cited by applicants.

Neither Obradovich nor Kurokawa provide for underwater navigation.

McLaren shows a personal navigator operable to receive navigational information concerning underwater navigation, see figures 1, 2, and 5, and col. 4, lines 55 et seq.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to extend the use of the personal navigator of either Obradovich or Kurokawa to underwater navigation because the use of a personal navigator for underwater navigation is clearly suggested by McLaren.

Claims 32-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Obradovich et al and Kurokawa et al and further in view of Alonzi et al, cited by applicants.

Alonzi shows a personal navigation feature that includes a navigational hazard such as a congestion and a navigational point of relevance such as an intersection, see abstract and col. 3.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to provide hazard information as well as navigation point of reference in the personal navigation system of either Obradovich or Kurokawa because the use and advantages of providing hazard (congestion) and navigational point of relevance in a personal navigation system are taught by Alonzi.

Any advantages seen are those naturally expected due to the teachings of Alonzi.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10-26-04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
